SOCIAL CONDITION

PREFACE

This issue of the Social Condition Part of the Statistical Register of New South Wales contains statistics for 1969, and earlier years.

The statistics given in this publication should be read in conjunction with the Official Year Book of New South Wales. For the latest figures in the principal statistical series, the reader should refer to other publications of the Bureau, particularly the Statistical Bulletin and the Monthly Summary of Business Statistics.

My thanks are tendered to the responsible officers of the various State and Commonwealth authorities and to others who have supplied information, often at considerable trouble.

R. G. Walker

Deputy Commonwealth Statistician

and

Government Statistician of New South Wales

Bureau of Census and Statistics, Sydney. 17th June, 1971.

- 1. Statistics relating to public and private schools, and the pupils and teachers in them, exclude evening and technical colleges, business colleges, private kindergartens and nursery schools, and (with the exception of Table 21) subsidised public schools.
- 2. Effective enrolment is the actual enrolment on the first Friday in August in each year, excluding pupils believed to have left the school.
- 3. Under the new system of secondary education, which was introduced in 1962, the full secondary course comprises a four-year course leading to a School Certificate examination (formerly a three-year course leading to an Intermediate Certificate examination) and a further two-year course leading to a Higher School Certificate examination (formerly a further two-year course leading to a Leaving Certificate examination).

Private Schools

4. Private schools attended by children of statutory school age must be certified by the Minister for Education as efficient (taking into account the standard of instruction, qualifications of the teachers, suitability of school premises, and general conduct of the school). Private secondary schools must also be registered for the education of pupils holding State bursaries under the Bursary Endowment Act. Certified schools at private charitable institutions are included in statistics of private schools; business schools, ecclesiastical seminaries, and nursery and kindergarten schools are not included.

Other Educational Institutions

5. In tables relating to universities, technical colleges, and the New South Wales Institute of Technology, the term "enrolments" represents the number of students enrolled in each course (during the whole or part of the year). Students enrolled in more than one course are counted once for each course.

Section II—PUBLIC HEALTH AND SOCIAL SERVICES

Public and Private Hospital Services and Psychiatric Centres

- 1. Statistics of Public Hospitals and Homes relate only to the hospitals and homes supervised by the Hospitals Commission of New South Wales. Psychiatric centres, hospitals and homes conducted by the Department of Health, and military hospitals are excluded. The statistics of Public Hospitals Services, in addition to Public Hospitals and Homes, include other organizations which are subsidised by the Commission (i.e., those which are included on the Second or Third Schedules of the Public Hospitals Act).
- 2. In accordance with the Private Hospitals Act, private hospitals and rest homes may be conducted only under a licence issued annually by the Board of Health, which is also responsible for their inspection and control. Private rest homes provide nursing care for convalescents, the aged, and those chronically ill but needing little medical care.
- 3. Psychiatric Centres include all State psychiatric institutions and authorised private psychiatric hospitals, the psychiatric units of certain general hospitals, and certain psychiatric clinics. A psychiatric hospital and associated admission centre are regarded as one psychiatric centre. For statistical purposes, all psychiatric centres in New South Wales are regarded as comprising a single Psychiatric Service. Admissions and discharges are identified in relation to the Service as a whole, and not in relation to a particular psychiatric centre. The statistics of patients have been based on the results of a census of patients on the in-patient registers of psychiatric centres at 30th June, 1964 and on particulars of each admission to and discharge from a centre since that date. The details of beds and patients in the psychiatric units of general hospitals and in certain clinics are duplicated in the statistics of hospitals and homes shown elsewhere in this Section.

Adoptions

4. Adoptions relate to orders for the adoption of a child made under the Adoption of Children Act by the Supreme Court of New South Wales in its Equity Jurisdiction. The figures for any year relate to orders for adoption signed in that year. This factor must be borne in mind when comparing figures for different years, as administrative changes and special circumstances in particular cases can affect the number of orders signed in a year. Age of adopted child (namely, the age of the child at the date the adoption order was signed) is particularly liable to be affected by factors which can vary from year to year. Babies are normally placed with prospective adoptive parents within four weeks of birth, and the order for adoption is signed subsequently if the Court approves the placement.

Section III—LAW AND CRIME

Matrimonial Causes

- Jurisdiction in matrimonial causes was first conferred on the Supreme Court by the Matrimonial Causes Act passed by the State Parliament in 1873. Previously, marriages could be dissolved in New South Wales only by special Act of Parliament.
- 2. The State legislation being administered by the Court was superseded by the Matrimonial Causes Act which was passed by the Commonwealth Parliament in 1959 and which came into operation on 1st February, 1961. Where a matrimonial cause had been instituted under State legislation but not completed before 1st February, 1961, the transitional provisions of the 1959 Act gave petitioners the advantages of the new Act without detracting from their position under the former legislation.
- 3. The (Commonwealth) Matrimonial Causes Act, 1959, provided a uniform law throughout Australia with respect to dissolution of marriage and other matrimonial causes. The Supreme Courts of the Australian States and Territories were invested with jurisdiction to hear and determine causes under the Act.

Higher Criminal Courts

- 4. The higher criminal courts which exercise original jurisdiction in New South Wales comprise the Supreme Court (the Central Criminal Court, which sits in Sydney, and the Supreme Court sitting in other centres) and the Courts of Quarter Sessions. Accused persons are tried before these courts on indictment by the Attorney-General, normally after preliminary enquiry in a lower court into the sufficiency of evidence to warrant a trial. Appeals from decisions of the higher criminal courts may be made to the Court of Criminal Appeal and, in certain circumstances, an appeal from this Court may be made to the High Court of Australia or to the Privy Council. The statistics of higher criminal courts do not cover appeals from Courts of Petty Sessions.
- 5. Statistics of Persons Dealt With relate to persons whose committal (committals) to a higher criminal court for trial or sentence have been finally determined in the year under review. If an appeal is pending at the end of the year or is lodged before the cut-off date for statistical purposes (i.e., within the first 8 weeks of the next year) the outcome is considered to be finally determined in the next year.

Section III—LAW AND CRIME (continued)

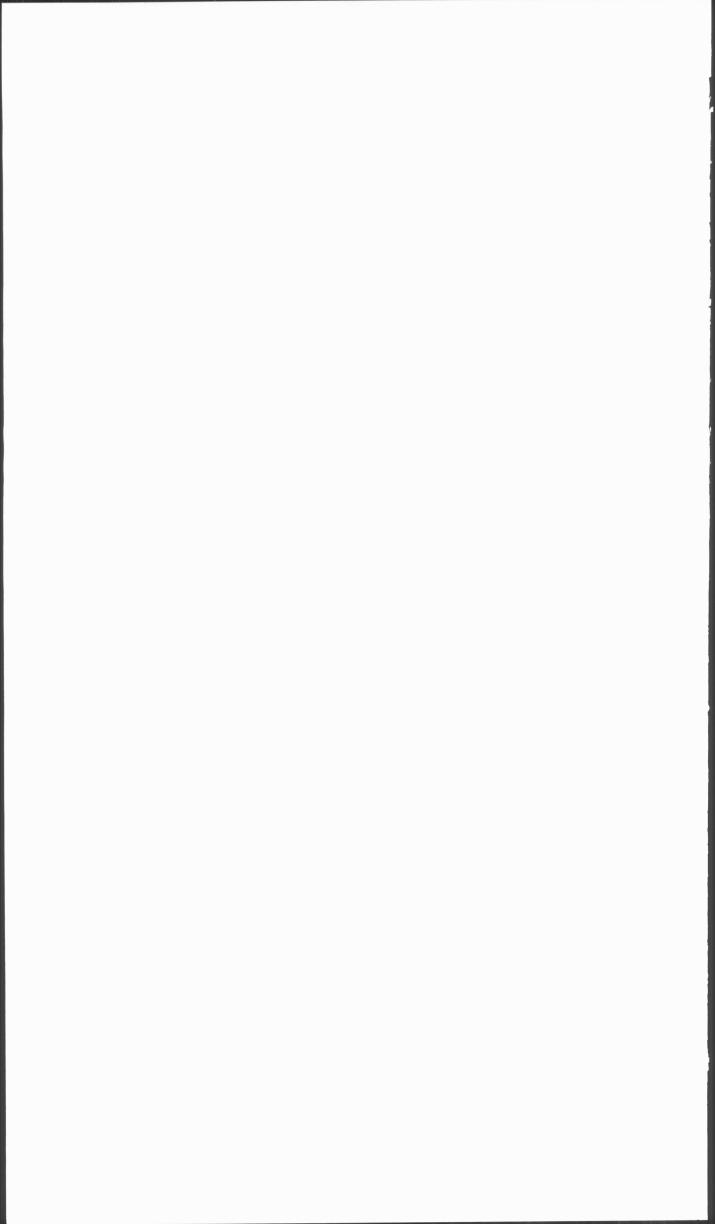

- 6. In statistics relating to Distinct Persons Dealt With persons who have been dealt with by higher criminal courts more than once in a year are counted only once—and where classified by offence, have been allocated to the most serious offence for which they have been convicted, or if acquitted, to the most serious offence for which they have been tried. The number of Distinct Persons Tried relate to persons dealt with by the higher criminal courts in respect of whom the committal was proceeded with to trial (or to sentence in the case of a person who pleaded guilty). Statistics of Distinct Persons Convicted include persons found not guilty on the grounds of insanity at the time the offence was committed, and take account of any variations of the original verdict or sentence as a result of a subsequent appeal (provided the appeal was lodged before the cut-off date for compilation of the statistics).
- 7. Owing to difficulties in establishing revised collection procedures in 1968 there is a measure of understatement in the number of persons dealt with by the courts in 1968. iThs understatement would have accounted for approximately half the recorded increase of 545 between 1968 and 1969.

Courts of Petty Sessions and Childrens Courts

8. Statistics of Charges and Convictions relate to all informations laid against an individual which were dealt with during the year shown. Where more than one information was laid against a person he is included with the statistics once for each information dealt with during the year.

Prison Statistics

9. Prisoners are counted each time they are received into gaol under sentence—transfers between gaols are not regarded as admissions or releases. In cases where a person is in gaol under sentence for more than one offence, the offence for which the longest sentence was imposed is selected for tabulation. Cumulative sentences are taken as equal to their united length; concurrent sentences are taken as equal to one of them or to the longer if they are of unequal length.

No. 3. Consumer Price Index, 1952 to 1970

Base of each Group Index: 1966-67 = 100.0*

The Consumer Price Index is designed to measure quarterly variations in the level of retail prices for goods and services which represent a high proportion of the expenditure of wage-earner households. The Index covers a large and representative selection of commodities and services arranged in five major groups—food, clothing and drapery, housing, household supplies and equipment, and a miscellaneous group. Significant changes in consumer expenditure patterns have been reflected in the Index by the introduction of additional items and altered weighting patterns.

* The amounts shown to February, 1959, represent the basic wage together with so much of any margin and any further amount necessary to make the minimum wage payable equivalent to 75 per cent. of the basic wage for males. Following the increase in the basic wage to the 75 per cent equivalent, the amount shown from February, 1959, is the basic wage exclusive of any margin. This change was applied in State Awards from different dates, beginning in March, 1959.

Quarterly adjustments for movements in retail prices were discontinued in State Awards from June, 1964.

The minimum wage payable to adult males under certain Commonwealth awards was fixed at $37.25 from July, 1966, $38.25 from July, 1967, $39.60 from October, 1968, and $43.10 from December, 1969.

In addition, an "economic loading" of $1 per week was payable to all adult males and females under State awards. From 1st January, 1968, this loading was absorbed into the basic wage.

$From July, 1967, the separate specification of the basic wage, margin, and other elements of award wage rates in Commonwealth awards was discontinued. The total wage (i.e., basic wage plus margin elements) for each award classification for adult males and females was increased from the beginning of the first pay-period commencing on or after 1st July, 1967 by $1 per week, by a further $1.35 from the beginning of the first pay-period commencing on or after 1st July, 1967 by $1 per week, by a further $1.35 from the beginning on the first pay-period commencing on or after 1st July, 1967 by $1 per week, by a further $1.35 from the beginning on the first pay-period commencing on or after 1st July, 1967 by $1 per week, by a further $1.35 from the beginning on the first pay-period commencing on or after 1st July, 1967 by $1 per week, by a further $1.35 from the beginning on the first pay-period commencing on or after 1st July, 1967 by $1 per week, by a further $1.35 from the beginning on the first pay-period commencing on or after 1st July, 1967 by $1 per week, by a further $1.35 from t

No. 5. Weighted Average Minimum Weekly and Hourly Wage Rates, N.S.W., 1939 to 1969

Notes:—

1. The indexes of minimum wage rates embrace a representative range of occupations and are based on the occupation and industry structures in 1954. The weekly wage rates used in the indexes are the lowest rates payable for a particular occupation for a full week's work (excluding overtime), as prescribed in representative industrial awards, determinations, and agreements. The relevant rates of prescribed "minimum wage for adult males" (see notes to Table 4) are used where applicable. The hourly wage rates are obtained by relating the weekly wage rates and the weekly hours of work prescribed in awards, etc. The rural industries are excluded from the indexes.

2. The money amounts shown should not be regarded as actual current averages, but as an index of changes expressed in money terms.

No. 7. Minimum Rates of Wages in Various Industries, Sydney, 1938 and 1939

Notes:

- 1. Rates shown are generally those provided in awards, determinations, or agreements for a full week's work (excluding overtime) for adult employees in Sydney. For some occupations more than one wage rate is quoted, indicating that there are different classes or grades of work, or that different rates are payable according to locality. Where only two rates are specified they are shown in the form $41.10 and $42.15. In other cases the rates are shown in the form $45.10 to $54.85, indicating that, in addition to the two rates specified, certain intermediate rates are also prescribed. The rates of pay quoted may be subject to revision due to retrospective adjustments to awards, etc.

 2. The forty-hour week was prescribed by Act of the Parliament of New South Wales as the standard for industries within State jurisdiction as from 1st July, 1947, and by judgment of the Commonwealth Court for persons working under Commonwealth awards and agreements from the first pay period in January, 1948. Except where indicated by footnote, the hours in industries for which wages are shown are 40 per week.
